

Honeysuckle Creek Tracking Station

Before the official opening – probably late 1966

Most of the buildings are in place, however the shelter to protect the heat exchangers for the Power Amplifier on the right side of the antenna pad is still to be built – and there are no flags on the flagpoles.

Photo by Hamish Lindsay, taken from near the water tank, looking NNW.
(Annotations: Colin Mackellar, 2009. www.honeysucklecreek.net)